Alea Aquarius 6

Band 6 - Der Fluss des Vergessens

Alea Aquarius 6: The River of Oblivion

Eagerly Anticipated: Alea's Adventure Continues

Dramatic cliffhanger finale of volume 5 makes this a must-read

In the eagerly anticipated sixth volume of the bestselling series by Tanya Stewner, Alea Aquarius's adventures take a new turn. Robbed of all their memories, the Alpha Cru have to reorientate themselves. Who is targeting them? Who is the man with the black coat and the barrel organ who is watching them from the harbour? And were there originally more members of the gang? Alea wouldn't be Alea if she didn't decide to take on her adversaries in order to save her friends, even if the odds seem to be stacked against her.

AUTHOR

Tanya Stewner

Tanya Stewner did not fall in love with books at first sight. After her primary school teacher had told her parents it was unlikely that she would ever learn to read and write properly, the girl from the Bergisches Land did not develop her passion for writing until late, i.e. the age of ten. But from then on, it was the love of her life, and the stories came out in a flood. Born in 1974, Tanya Stewner studied English, German and literature, and worked for several years as a translator and editor. She now writes full-time. Her children's series Liliane Susewind and the adventures of the Hummelbi elves have achieved major international success.
