Wo wächst der Pfeffer?

Where does Pepper Grow?

Seven questions and fourteen answers - the fun way to learn!

“Go where pepper grows!” But where does pepper actually grow? Why do bears go into hibernation? Because they can’t find a winter jacket to fit and it’s too cold to go out without a jacket? No, of course not! Bears cannot find enough food in winter. That’s why they eat lots to fatten themselves up throughout the rest of the year and then spend the cold season in their den. The bright children in this book know where pepper grows, why snails have a house, that a whale is not a fish and plenty more besides. But it’s lots more fun to think up the craziest answers to the questions before looking at the real answers!

A special picture book - amusing and informative for children and parents, with unusual and amusing illustrations.
